

L. R. HOLDS PACIFISTS UP TO SCORN

PAPER WRITTEN BY EX-PRESIDENT IS READ BEFORE SOCIOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

TIMID, LAZY, SLOTHFUL

Are Terms Applied to Persons Who Oppose Meeting Militaristic Nations With Force—Fail to Profit by History.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, Dec. 29.—A paper by Theodore Roosevelt on "social values and national existence," furnished a theme for an animated discussion today before the American Sociological Society in annual session here. It was read by Professor Edward A. Ross of the University of Wisconsin, president of the society.

Meet Militarism With Force.

"Ininitely the most important factor to remember in connection with the war and militarism in relation to moral and social values" wrote Mr. Roosevelt, "is that if an unscrupulous, warlike and militaristic nation is not held in check by the warlike ability of a laboring non-militaristic and well-behaved nation, then the latter will be spared the necessity of dealing with moral and social values" because it won't be allowed to deal with anything. It seems to me positively comic to fail to appreciate with the example of Belgium before our eyes that the real question which modern peace-loving nations have to face is not how the militaristic or warlike spirit within their own borders will affect these 'values' but how failure on their part to resist the militarism of an unscrupulous neighbor will affect them."

Mr. Roosevelt referred to mediaeval Prussia and Korea and Armenia to show what happened to nations which applied practically the theories of pacifists.

Persia As An Example.

"In the thirteenth century," said his paper, "Persia had become a highly civilized nation with a cultivated class of literary men and philosophers with universities and great mercantile interests. These literary men and merchants looked toward the realities of war with much the same attitude that is taken in our own country by gentlemen of the stamp of Messrs. David Starr Jordan and Henry Ford. Unfortunately for these predecessors of the modern pacifists, they were in striking distance of Mongols, Kalm, and other Mongols, and of course as invariably happens in such a case, when the onrush came, the pacifists' theories were worth just about what a tissue paper banner would amount to against a tidal wave. Russia at the time was slowly struggling upward toward civilization but she had not developed military efficiency in war. The Mongols overwhelmed her as fire overwhelsms bubble. The chief difficulties with which Russia has had to struggle in modern times, and especially in the one all-dominant fact that in the early part of the thirteenth century she had not developed the warlike strength to enable her to hold her own against a militaristic neighbor."

Sores the Pacifists.

"There are well meaning people utterly incapable of learning any lesson taught by history, utterly incapable of undertaking aright what has gone on before their very eyes during the past war or two, who nevertheless wish to turn this country into an oxidized China—the kind of China which every intelligent Chinaman of the present day is seeking to abolish. There are no means of politicians or no means of any intelligent person to find it to their profit to panderm to the desire common to most men to live softly, easily, sum avoid risks and effort. Timid and lazy men, men absorbed in ease and luxury and soft and slothful people, naturally hail with delight anybody who will give them high sounding names, behind which to cloak their unwillingness to run risks or to toil. Emotional philanthropists to whom thinking is a distasteful form of mental exercise, enthusiastically champion this attitude."

On discussing the mental confusion of the average man who thinks war is wrong, Mr. Roosevelt wrote that war could be defined as the use of force between nations and that the question of whether it was right or wrong depended purely upon the purpose for which, and the spirit in which it was waged.

Force and Morality.

There are, of course, persons who believe all force is immoral; that it is immoral to resist wrong-doing by force," he added. "I have never taken much interest in individuals who profess this kind of morality, and I do not know the extent to which they practically apply it. But of course if we are right in the theory, then it is wrong for a man to endeavor by force, to save his wife or sister of danger from abduction and torture. It is a waste of time to discuss with any one a position of such folly wickedness and poltroonery."

Force In Civil Life.

If the man who objects to war objects to the use of force in civil life, his position is logical although absurd and wicked. If the college students, professional actors, and business men of the world during the past year or two have preached pacifism in its most ignoble form are willing to think out the subject and are both sincere and fairly intelligent, they must necessarily condemn a police force or a posse comitatus just as they condemn armies, and they must regard the activities of the sheriff and constable as essentially militaristic and therefore to be abolished. * * * When we have discovered a method by which the law may be served universally in Chicago and New York that the two cities can safely abolish their police force then and not until then it will be worth while to talk about the abolition of war."

"The Sociological society meets at Washington this year" continues the paper, "not because the man after whom the city is named was willing to go to war. If he had his associates had not gone to war there would have been no possibility of discussing 'social values' in the United States for the excellent reason that there would have been no United States. If Lincoln had not been willing to go to war, the sociologists who will listen to this paper—if they existed at all—would not be considering the social values enumerated above, but social values of slavery and such industrial problems as can now be studied in Central American republics."

Make Might Servant of Right.

"At present in this world and for its immediate future," wrote Mr. Roosevelt in conclusion, "it is certain that the only way successfully to oppose the might which is the servant of wrong is by making right the might which is the servant of right."

Speakers on the program to discuss Colonel Roosevelt's paper included Dr. John M. Metz of the American Peace society, Miss Mable Boardman of the American Red Cross society; Prof. E. C. Hayes of the University of Illinois; and Prof. J. C. Dealy of Brown University.

Los Angeles, Dec. 29.—Reiterating assertions by clergymen and others that immorality was rampant in a large number of motion picture camps and studios of this city and the surrender of honor, frequently was the price asked of young women ambitious to appear on the screen, were given anti-nice notice today by Thos. L. Woolsey, county district attorney who said that an investigation would be started at once and action would be taken by the grand jury if facts warranted.

The charges were made on several occasions in public by Rev. Dr. Charles Seelmann, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, South. The Rev. Illinois Stock Raiser Protests That Federal Inspectors of Hoof and Mouth Disease Are Unqualified.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—Complaint of incompetent inspectors, both federal and state, in connection with the battle against the hoof and mouth disease in Illinois, was made today before the United States senate committee investigating the epidemic. Clarence Tanner, a stock-raiser of Sugar Grove, Ill., said:

"The inspectors, both state and federal, were very incompetent. When the disease was found in my herd, the inspectors came out every day or two. Each time new inspectors were brought and shown one particular steer which had a well developed case. The chief inspector would show them this steer and explain to them the symptoms of the disease, which they did not seem to know. They always drove right up to the barnyard in their automobiles and did not dislodge themselves as far as I know."

Theodore Holstein, a farmer of Cambridge, Ill., also complained that many of the government inspectors seemed incompetent.

Dr. W. H. Bailey, a veterinarian of Illinois, said that every case of the disease in fifteen herds in one county was traced directly to serum sent from the federal laboratory, at a loss to that county of $33,000.

Leavenworth, Kas., Dec. 29.—Fifty convicts who were ring leaders in a threatened mutiny yesterday in the coal mine operated at the Kansas state penitentiary here, were in solitary confinement today. The demonstrators demanded better food. Warden J. K. Codding said today he believed practically all of the 300 prisoners at work in the mine yesterday were aware of plans for the mutiny. Prison officials learned of it, however, only after the descent into the mine of Professor R. L. Grider, of the mining and engineering school of the University of Kansas and a party of twelve students of Kansas and a party of twelve students of the university.

Judge Fowler said that it would be difficult to abolish them and the problem for consideration is how they may be utilized. He thought that better food could be secured if these courts were made adjuncts of the circuit courts to handle the excess work.

Last night the circuit judges of the state had as their guests at a banquet the supreme court justices of the state. Probably the most important to come before the judges will be the discussion of the law for the placing of first offenders on probation.

Despite a tremendous expenditure of ammunition and men, the attacking forces have not yet succeeded in breaking through the lines. Every time the weakened columns of the Russian succeeded in reaching the Austro-Hungarian front, they were repulsed. The Russians maintained a gunfire for twenty-five ours, which was audible in Czernowitz."

WILLARD'S VICTORY SENSATION IN RING CIRCLES DURING '15

Jack Johnson Only Fighter to Lose His Title During the Year—Three Other Champions Slipping.

(By Strikes.)

The 1915 season in the boxing ring was noted one, for a single reason, and that is because the championship of the world was wrestled from an Ethiopian—Jack Johnson—and returned to the white race by a white—Jess Willard. Outside of this one, there have been few startling changes in the weight circles, and a dull year, as no other changes in championships were recorded.

The champions of the day, and the leaders of the divisions, where there is no really accepted champion, is as follows: Heavyweight, Jess Willard; light-weight, Jack Dillon, the "boosler mankiller" middle-weight in dispute; Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul "bantam" is conceded to be the best American middle-weight; and Les Darcy of Australia, who has a claim on the title since knocking out Eddie McDoorty, twice. The welter-weight title is in the biggest muddle of all. Willie Ritchie, former light-weight title holder, has a good claim since he graduated from the light-weight circles. Packey McFarland, Lewis, the British, who has made such a wonderful record since invading the shores, also have claims. In the lightweight division, elusive Welsh, the British, still holds the crown, thanks to the no-decision laws that have protected him in many bouts with American lightweights. Johnny Kilbane is still kingpin among the featherweights and Kid Williams holds the honor in the bantams, although Eddie of St. Paul won from the champion on a foul in ten round no decision contest. The flyweight title is also in dispute with many contenders.

Williams Fading.

Three fighters, Welsh, Kilbane and Williams retained their titles, which they held when 1915 dawned. There has been no real championship matches in two of the divisions during the year, hence the glove kings have had no difficulty hanging onto their crowns. Williams, who entered in a twenty-round bout at New Orleans and came mighty near closing it to Burns, Johnny Erle is the most logical candidate to replace the Baltimore terror and even now holds claims due to the foul victory. Williams, without a doubt, is slipping fast and probably will not have the title at this time next year.

Ritchie apparently has outgrown the ranks of the lightweight and has invaded the welter ranks, ready to defend his claim for the title. His entrance to the 145-pound division has been one of the important incidents of the prize ring year. Packey McFarland, the Chicago boxer, came back and fought. Mike Gibbons in a ten-round contest in New York at which all records were broken for money won, in a ten-round bout, Gibbons driven from the low weight, was unable to be at his best against the showy Chicago man and the popular decision was against him. Packey evidently is through with the ring except for publicity purposes, and is not considered seriously as champion-timer. Ted or Kid Lewis, of England, has a wonderful knockout record to his credit against lightweights, but report show that he always managed to have a decided advantage in weight against the rightweights. Ted, however, is a real ringer. Mike O'Dowd of St. Paul is the latest welterweight to come into the limelight and has a large following.

With Les Darcy.

The middleweight title is in a bad muddle as when its real champion, Ketchel, was shot. Les Darcy, by knocking out Eddie McDoorty, at Australia, has a right to be considered in settling the question of supremacy. Mike Gibbons is the American's choice in this division and a battle between the two over the twenty-round limit would go a long ways in settling the dispute. Young Ahearn is also a candidate, but a few years ago Mike Gibbons met him. Gibbons scratched his nose with his business knife, and proceeded to lop Ahearn for the count, which eliminated the Englishman until he made a rapid and sure come-back. These two squared off for a ten-round bout in January in St. Paul, and then it will be learned if Ahearn is more than a dress agent champion. Darcy is coming to corner some American gold and his worth will be known then.

Jack Dillon cannot be beaten, it seems, in the lightweight "heavyweight" ranks. He has some fans that say so, but as to whether he can whip the Welsh, Jean, the leading American heavyweight, a title bout with Charlie White, the Chicago left hooker, was promised, but the promoters were not anxious to lose their bank balances in paying the demands of the champion. He has lost much of his drawing power and it is an assured fact there are half a dozen American boxers who are able to take his crown away, once he really defends it. Johnny Dundee has been showing the best form outside of the knockout record of White, and either of these two is considered the Yankee's best since Ritchie is a welterweight.

Both Johnny Kilbane and Kid Williams show signs of waning power. Kilbane is matched to meet George Chaney, of Baltimore next year and the result is very much in doubt since Chaney is a notable slugger and knock-out artist. The future alone can tell who will hold these two.

Rise of Fulton.

Fred Fulton, the Rochester giant, has arisen in the heavyweight ranks and is now matched to meet Fulton, Frank Moran, slipped a knock-out over Jim Coffey in New York, and arose to the pedestal of being the best heavyweight outside of Willard. Both Fulton and Moran are mentioned in the squabble over who shall fight for the title in March at New Orleans.

Sudden and quick knock-outs shoved many star fighters down the ladder. Joe Rivers, Joe Mandot, champion of the south, and Jimmy Duffy, felt the sting of defeat. Bunny Leonard, the Gotham lightweight by knocking out Mandot jumped to the front. Ted Lewis did the trick to Duffy and Callahan was the one to bear the referee's count. Joe Charlie White scored kudos in three-fourths of his battles including Sailor, Ad Wolquist ex-champion, suffered two severe defeats, the latest being from Leach Cross and it is reported he is really going to retire. Old Battling Nelson, with his body of iron, is still fighting away and probably will do for some time. But when unable to fight will talk and fight until he is called by Father Time.

Two Deaths in Ring.

Fortunately the sport was comparatively free of fatalities, only two deaths being directly attributable to fighting. They were L. Anderson, a professional boxer under the name of Jim Newton, who died at Seattle, Wash., January 9, from the result of a blow delivered by Ike Cohen. Kid Summers, a featherweight who died from injuries received in a private fight at St. Paul, Minn. In this respect the death list charged to the boxing game was smaller than that of any other sport now in public favor.

RITCHIE IS VICTIM OF LEWIS' PUNCHES

English Welter Outpoints American Ex-Champion in Sluggish Mill—Boxer Beats a Fighter.

LEWIS, NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(Kid) Lewis of England outpointed Willie Ritchie of San Francisco in every round except one of their ten round bout at Madison Square garden Tuesday night.

Ritchie was the aggressor at the outset of every round but failed to follow up his advantage by force of cleverness sufficiently to make himself master of the Englishman. Only in the third round did Ritchie have anything like an even break with his opponent.

Ritchie was willing all of the way, showing pluck, and at the end of the bout he appeared to have lost little of his strength. Ritchie's best blow was a left jab to the face, but Lewis used left and right hooks as well as his fast footwork made it difficult for the Californian to land an effective blow.

Lewis' most effective attack was a short left arm jab to the head, which Ritchie seemed unable to avoid, and suffered as a consequence. Lewis was unmarked at the conclusion of the bout, but Ritchie, besides having a cut over his right eye, bore other evidences of the losing end of a fast encounter.

Both Lewis and Ritchie apparently have outgrown the lightweight class. Lewis weighed in at 139½ and Ritchie at 143½.

GRIFFITHS WINS.

Akron, Ohio, Dec. 29.—Johnny Griffiths of this city outpointed Jack Britton of Chicago here Tuesday night by a slight margin in twelve rounds.

Britton's experience and endurance were not sufficient to counter Griffiths' youth and recuperative powers, and he slightly outpointed the Chicago veteran in their third match. Britton had the better of the early rounds, but toward the close he tired, and Griffiths set a fast pace in the last three rounds, which he won by a large margin, giving him the edge on the night.

HOGES GETS KAYO.

Marsfield, Wis., Dec. 29.—Franke Hoge met his first defeat here Tuesday night when Billy Miske knocked him in the second round. Kid Krieg of Marsfield knocked out Jack Mannon in the first round.

GIBBONS AND AHEARN WILL FIGHT JAN. 18th.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 29.—Young Ahearn, Brooklyn, and Mike Gibbons of St. Paul will meet in their postponed ten round bout at Tuesday night, Jan. 18, according to an announcement by officials of the Capital City Athletic club today. They received a telegram accepting that date from Ahearn's manager, Gibbons, who has been ill with pneumonia, resumed training yesterday.

In accepting the date Dan McKittrick, Ahearn's manager, fired a couple of volleys at the local club for getting him into trouble. He said he never wanted the $1,000 forfeit of the agreement to fight before Jan. 15, but just wanted to stick to rules.

Worry over the Gibbons-Ahearn postponement and overwork were as signed today by physicians for the nervous breakdown of Edward Bell, watchmaker of the Capital City A. C. He was reported worse today. His home was Milwaukee.

BILL CARRIGAN SATISFIED WITH RED SOX; WON'T SWAP PLAYERS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Lewiston, Me., Dec. 29.—Winter league doppers already seem to have started in making trades and issuing releases, selling gold bricks but down in this neck of the woods.

Manager Bill Carrigan, head of the world champion Red Sox, and one of the few big league directors who managed to get entirely out of the old-time Bill Carrigan way, and letting other people do the talking for him, has returned from his outing at the camp of Lake Umbagog, up the other day, some clipping from Boston paper were brought to his attention.

In these clippings were several paragraphs affecting the status of the Red Sox team, such as the trading of Gardner, Wood and Collins, the purchase of Ray Chapman from the Cleveland Indians. Loath to discuss these, Bill was finally moved to say when he saw the proposed changes that some of the winter leagues were making in his team.

"Anybody would think," grunted

Bill after he saw where a few of his

Red Sox champions were scheduled to go, "that I had nothing to say in this matter at all, and that the Boston team would be completely made over by the time I get back to the Hub.

It's funny how queer ideas some writers seem to collect."

A Foolish Move.

"Can you imagine anything more foolish than for a manager or an owner to break up or change a team that has just won a world's championship?

I can't."

Any team that was good enough to take the measure of the Tigers and Philadelphia Nationals, is good enough to go right back there and repeat, bar-riving accidents. The most ridiculous thing is that a manager could make such a mess that he'd be shaken out of his chair," Carrigan said.

"The Chicago Cubs, the Giants and maybe one or two other clubs, that slipped badly in the year following the winning of a championship, but the main reason for that to my mind is that they form before that and were really starting up again when this is not the case with the Red Sox."

"Barry, Heinie, Wagner and myself,

I doubt if there is a man on his thirtieth year yet. Gregg may be coming to that point, but like Hooper, Speaker,

Henrikson, Lewis, Hoblitzell, Janvrin,

Gardner and Scott of the regulars, they are well under that age and capable to play championship baseball for a long time to come," said

Thomas, not to mention Haley, are well below the thirty-year mark. Maye,

Ruth, Shore, Leonard and Foster are practically kids, while Collins and Wood have yet to see their twenty-seventh birthday. So it can be seen that we have not started to go back yet, in spite of the dreams of some writers to the contrary."

A Regular Habit.

"Every year and then some comes out with some new idea of a manager to be traded. Carrigan and his colleagues in the American league that would give up a player that would be anything like an equal exchange? Take Gardner day in and day out, and he is a pretty dependable third-sacker. The records will show that his long drives annually put a lot of games on the winning side for us."

"Granted that now and then Gardner slows up a bit in his fielding, and that he fails to hit as expected.

This is only something that happens in

SOME COMPENSATION.

In a recent editorial an eastern exchange says that there are worse things than war—economically. The popular notion is that money spent by nations for military purposes all “goes up in smoke,” that there is no return for it, and that in actual war there is nothing but wholesale destruction of property as well as of life—carriage, devastation and the paralysis of industry and invention.
Under that notion, all the principal nations of Europe should now be plunging toward bankruptcy; while should the United States arm and equip its military and naval forces for adequate protection in case of need, this would mean a cruel burden of debt and taxes for a people at peace with the world. But is war so economically destructive? Do all the operations of war loans “go up in smoke”?At the beginning of the American civil war, the public debt of the United States was $86,000,000. At its close it was $2,760,000,000, an increase of $2,610,000,000. In addition, the United States during the struggle raised by war taxes (internal revenue) $767,000,000, and individual states raised $125,000,000 by loans for war purposes—a total of $3,560,000, 000, entirely apart from what the confederacy collected, borrowed and spent.The wealth of the northern and border states at the beginning of the war (census figures of 1860) was $10, 800,000,000, so that about a third of the wealth of the country, outside of the confederate states, “went up in smoke.” National bankruptcy should have followed. What actually did follow was a prodigious increase in national wealth and in industry, higher wages, unexampled demand for labor, enlarged foreign and domestic commerce, more extensive railroad building and a widespread prosperity.What is the true reason for this apparent paradox? Money borrowed for war purposes does not largely go up in powder and smoke. Nineteenth of the proceeds of war loans go for commercial purposes—food, uniforms, horses, cotton, clothing, gasoline, saddletery, shoes, motor cars, bridges and road materials, belts, harness, bags, drugs, fences, engineering tools, wire pontoons, railway cars and engines, airships, signals and the pay of soldiers and allowances to their families. This money goes back into the pockets of those who keep the national war chests supplied—manufacturers, farmers, business men and artisans. It is largely economic redistribu-tion, that which, in its material results, there is nothing better at intervals for a country in which there is hoarded wealth and unemployed labor.

NEW YEAR CUSTOM.

The heathen Chinese is said to have the very atrocious custom of paying all bills January 1. In our highly civilized country, January 1 bills are often considered valuable for filling the waste basket. The rag man will pay something for them.Not every one who lets his bills go unpaid at this time and other periods is indifferent about it. Many people would gladly pay all they owe, could they collect the debts due them. They are caught in the cogs of the machine, and can only advance as fast as those behind them.The easier some people could pay, the less ready they are to do it. It would make them very tired to sit down monthly and write off a dozen checks. By letting the bills run, they can do it all in one job. This saves them much hard work. Yet they may have idle money in banks.Some business men allow bills to run to save a trifle of interest. It would offend their thrifty souls to drop a dollar that has been accumulating in the savings bank. Of course the creditor is meanwhile losing interest. But creditors are considered grasping creatures who have all the money they need. These habits of debt paying, so often needlessly slow, clot the whole business machinery.A large percentage of the business failures are of people who would be perfectly solvent if they could collect their bills merely from those debtors who are easily able to pay.It is surprising how quickly a dollar will run around a town. When you pay that long standing bill due the grocer, he is immediately able to satisfy the teamster. The latter can settle with the butcher, who can now pay that old bill at the printer's. So it goes.The net result is a new feeling of confidence and good will. If a generalal debt paying custom could prevail January 1st, a great many people would feel a new courage about their business future. They would buymore freely. This would mean more orders for the factories. A wave of new business would spread over the country. Let everyone do what he can toward it.

THE GRIPPE.

Like an invasion of the biblical plagues the grippe has swept over this entire country with a rapidity that is startling and the epidemic has crippled business institutions in a manner that was hardly conceivable. Janesville has not been the only sufferer and thousands are reported ill in the larger cities. The Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin handles the matter in the following editorial, making some wise suggestions that might be well to observe.“The death rate from the epidemic of grippe now sweeping through the country has been so great in Pennsylvania as to alarm the health commissioner of that state, who has issued a timely warning which is of general application. ‘Keep out of crowded places’ is his advice, and the reason he assigns is concise and sufficient: ‘One person having grippe may give it to a whole carload of passengers.’ Yes, or to a whole roomful.In the winter time when grippe is about, in ill-ventilated, crowded church or school or place of amusement is a good place to keep away from, unless one is willing to risk ex-posure to the disease.It is said that fifteen thousand persons are down with grippe in Philadelphia, and that the virulence of the seizure recalls that of the epidemic a quarter of a century ago, when there were many instances of fatal ending of what at the outset seemed an ordinary cold. Chicago, bound to be ahead, says there are eighty-five thousand cases of influenza in her public schools. In Milwaukee the health commissioner himself is suffering from an attack, and confined to his home. Many a wise victim of the malady has saved serious trouble to himself and others by staying indoor and resorting to the simple remedy of hot baths and avoidance of drafts.
A man with grippe who goes to work becomes a center of contagion, dangerous to others, and usually loses more time in the end than if he took a day or two off and got the poison out of his system through the pores.”

APPROVE PLAN.

The press of the state have shown decided approval of the proposition of Senator John M. Whitehead that a state convention of republicans gather at the United States senate, for state offices and formulate a platform. It appears to have struck a popular chord in the minds of writers in all parts of the state. Just how such a convention should be called has not as yet been discussed. As far as can be learned the state central committee have no real power to call a convention; that is, there is nothing in the statutes that provides how delegates to such a convention be selected. However, let us have the conventions if they will clarify the atmosphere any and bring about party unity.Some one asks, what has become of the man who used to start in January 1st, keeping an elaborate diary?
Probably he now hires a stenographer, who records carefully his receipts, payments, and bank deposits, which is all he cares to have remembered.Some one writes to the New York World as to what tip a lady of moderate means ought to give in a restaurant for a ten cent cup of tea.
Probably the waiter under the circumstances would condescend to let her off for 15 cents.The people who received those Galt-Wilson wading announcements may have carelessly and accidentally dropped them on the top of their card receivers, where everyone would see them.A wide-spreading epidemic of grippe being reported, many people decide to protect themselves against the dangers of fresh air by tightly closing their sleeping room windows.Some one remarks that the American notes of protest have all been pigeon-holed by the warring powers, but it would seem more likely that they were waste-basketed.The people who deplore the foolishness of the Christmas card custom, must have got a two cent card from some one whom they expected would send a $2.50 present.The holiday gift of Wall street to the nation has been a notice to put up more margin on a number of prominent industrial shares.While Christmas trade this year is called very good, no great enthusiasm has come to our ears from the merchants who don't advertise.The suffering people of New York City are now permitted to eat horse meat, but they have not yet begun to chew their shoe leather.The popular New Year's resolution for many men is to resolve to make a lot more money in 1916 than they did the past year.The high price of gasoline causes much more indignation in certain classes of society than the cost of four.

year in United States' relations with the world family of nations marked 1915. Serious crises marked the year: the Lusitania incident; the Entente's intervention in the Balkans; the British blockade of Germany; the neutral conscription of American property and interference with American commerce; dismissal of foreign diplomats; resignation of its own Secretary of State, and European criticism of its neutrality were the outstanding events of 1915 in American diplomacy.The country faces in the new year more delicate problems, including new and old disputes with Europe's belligerents.The killing of over 100 Americans on the high seas, destruction of a British battleship, the Entente's unjustified seizure of American property and interference with American commerce.March 15.—England's blockade of Germany; May 7.—Sinking of the Lusitania; June 4.—Secretary Bryan's resignation; Aug. 1.—Sinking of the Arbela; Sept. 10.—Recall of Austrian Ambassador Dumba; Oct. 4.—Half billion loan to the allies; Nov. 9.—Sinking of the Ancon; Dec. 2.—Recall of German Captains Boy-Ed and Von Papen.These and numberless other entangements of the war caused Uncle Sam to break all records in diplomatic activity, writing 100 telegrams a day.
Notes were sent. The chief year's diplomatic victory was the enforced mediation by Germany of her submarine warfare.Today the United States stands with increased power and prestige, but still weighted with the task of perfected peaceful settlements with England, France, Germany and Austria in most delicate and difficult complications. The passing year was one of the more important international events follows:February 1.—United States agrees with England to supply non-combatant ships. April 1.—England seizes American grain steamer Dactie from Germans. April 15.—England seizes American schooner Frysack from German raider Prinz Eitel Friedrich.February 5.—Because of German government confiscating all food stuffs, England seized American grain steamer Wilhelmina. 11.—United States warned England and Germany not to abuse use of American flag.
February 13.—British note of Germany's blockade illegal. 19.—German submarine blockade of England protested. 20.—Two notes from England affirmed right to seize steamer Wilhelmina and promised immediate use of American flag. 21.—American cotton steamer Evelyn sunk by mine. One American killed. 23.—

News and later interned. 28.—Leo man submarine torpedoed English delivers reply note to Ambassador Gerard regarding Lusitania, alleging vessel armed.Submarines were being supplied with necessities in the lake itself had been detained by the Ottomans authorities for some time. It had been impossible, however, to obtain accurate information. Since it was felt that an end had to be put to this state of affairs, the Turkish government declared the entire Marmara coast a “closed zone,” into which no ship of any sort could venture without a special permit and a representative of the Ottoman marine department aboard. Nevertheless, a large number of Greeks, in some cases also Turks, ventured into the frozen water.Heavy sentences of penal servitude, in some instances terms of eight years, were imposed upon them.

Notwithstanding this, the traffic continued until quite recently.The papers found on the Turquoise show also that the never and larger types of British submarines use coal fuel. In the list of “bases” in the Marmara Sea are several places where coal is obtained. Turkish patrol boats have captured other submarines from whose funnels coal smoke issued. At the time this was not believed. It has been learned since then that the submarine so obtaining its power must remain in the zone of the enemy, replenish its electric storage batteries at night, when nothing but sparks from the funnel could reveal its presence.In connection with the efforts of the Turkish authorities to restrict military activity on the Sea of Marmara, a rather amusing incident occurred last July. The officers of a certain German submarine were in the habit of dining at one of Pera's hotels. So did the officers of an English submarine on at least one occasion. At that time the Turkish government, as it does even today, permitted the subjects of hostile governments to move freely about Constantinople. Dining one day at this hotel, the commander of a German submarine was given a letter a letter which bore his full name and address. The waiter said that on the previous evening the letter had been left by a party of five, one of whom was noted to be an American.September 1.—Ambassador Bernstorff notified State Department, Germany agrees to sink no more liners without warning. 2.—James F. J.
Archibald's arrest at Palermo discloses carrying documents for Austrian Ambassador Dumba, and Capt.
Von Papen. 3.—Cardinal Gibbons presents Pope's peace plea to President Wilson. 4.—British ship Ilesperien seized or mined. 9.—Germany declares Austria that munitions sales are legal. Correspondence revealing operations of German agents published.
19.—Arabic torpedoes, two Americans killed.

Atty. for petitioner.

Real Meaning of Phrase.
The expression in the prayer book, "kindly fruits of the earth," has for most persons no definite meaning because of the difference in significance now attached to the word kindly from that used when the expression was first written. The word kindly in that connection means as nearly as possible "of its kind," and the expression "kindly fruits of the earth" meant "the fruits of the earth" each after its kind."

Sounding Inconsistencies.
Explosives go in innocent guise. Thus picric acid is a cure for burns. It is also the main ingredient of lydite, the terrible agent in high explosive shells. Without nitrogen there could be no explosive at all, yet this inert gas is the chief constituent in the very air we breathe.

WILLIAM WATT DIED ON MONDAY EVENING

Passed to World Beyond in San Francisco.—Funeral Services Held There This Afternoon.

William Wikeman Watt, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Watt of this city, and upon his removal to Reno, Nevada, some seven years ago prominent in the business, political and social life of Janesville, passed to the world beyond on Monday afternoon at San Francisco, after an illness that has extended over a period of nearly two years.

The funeral services were held in San Francisco this afternoon at three o'clock. He remains being cremated and will probably be brought to Janesville for interment at some later time. His wife and daughter were with him at the end and all that loving friends could do showed the respect the departed was held in.

News of Mr. Watt's death came last evening in a dispatch to D. W. Watt and will be received with surprise by his old friends in the city who had hoped for his ultimate recovery from his sickness. The deceased was born in Janesville September 25th, 1872, and made this city his home until leaving for the west where he settled in Reno. For many years he was connected with the Gazette Printing company in both the editorial and business departments, and later became editor of the Janesville Recorder, holding his position there to go west.

Two terms alderman from the Third ward, he was prominent in the political circles of the community and was always in the forefront of any activity for the betterment of the city. He was a member of Janesville Lodge 254 B. P. O. E. and also of the Janesville Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles. He was married in 1903 to Miss Louisa Kent, and his widow and one daughter, Bernice, aged eleven, are left to mourn his loss in the far western country. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Watt, and a brother, H. L. Watt of Marlon, Indiana, are the only other immediate relatives.

On moving to Reno Mr. Watt entered into the insurance and real estate business, being associated with Walter Piffeld, and soon became prominent in the life of his adopted city. He was elected alderman and served on important committees of the western city's political activities. Following the death of his partner, Mr. Piffeld, Mr. Watt assumed the entire business and some time later suffered a serious breakdown. Later he spent a year on a ranch in southern California recuperating, but recently suffered another relapse and went to San Francisco for medical treatment, where he passed away.

William Wikeman Watt was a most lovable character. He was a young man of exceptional charm and he had a host of friends wherever he went and his death will come as a shock to the whole community where he spent his youth and early manhood. While he had made his home in the west for the past seven years, he always planned to return to Janesville later and retained his active interest in his native town to the very last. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the widow and orphan and the bereaved parents.

BRITISH WORK FEVERISHLY TO RETAIN SUPREMACY ON SEAS

Admiral Jellicoe; the Queen Elizabeth; British dreadnaught firing aft turret guns.

Great Britain has laid down or completed more vessels since the war began than the entire tonnage of the American navy. The battle cruisers, with slight deviations, are built on the lines of the Queen Elizabeth, which has been used in operations against the Dardanelles. In building up the British navy, Admiral Jellicoe is virtual director.

Use for Eggshell.

A medical authority says the shell of an egg is used as an antacid, being better adapted to the stomach than chalk. The white of egg is an antidote in cases of poisoning with strong acids or corrosive sublimate. The poison will coagulate the albumen, and if these poisons be in the system the white of an egg, if swallowed quickly, will combine with the poison and protect the stomach.

Worth-While Quotation.

Greatness, after all, in spite of its name, appears to be not so much a certain size as a certain quality in human lives. It may be present in lives whose range is very small.—Phillips Brooks.

Arterio-Sclerosis

or hardening of the arteries is perhaps the first apparent change in the blood vessels that indicates beginning degeneration.

After a time the inner-lining of these hardened arteries softens, ulcerates, and breaks down, resulting in aneurism, embolism, apoplexy and paralysis. This condition of the vessels is associated with high blood pressure, headaches, kidney disease, Bright's disease, often with rheumatism, asthma, bronchitis, gallstones, gravel, etc.

Statistics and reports show a percentage of cures on the Milk and Rest Treatment, that cannot be equalled by any other treatment, in those almost hopeless cases. A New York physician said: "I know of nothing else that even helps them."

Bacon and Wealth.

I cannot call riches better than the baggage of virtue; the Roman word is better, "impedita;" for as the baggage is to the army, so is riches to virtue; it cannot be spared nor left behind, but it bindereth the march; yea, and the care of it sometimes loseth or disturbeth the victory; of great riches there is no real use, except it be in the distribution; the rest is but conceit.—Bacon.

Have a Good Bed.

In Farm and Fireside a contributor, writing a practical article about mattresses and other provisions for beds, makes the following general comment:

"In furnishing a home the housewife should give most careful thought to the beds and their equipment. We spend at least a third of our lives in bed, and it is worth while to make that third pleasant and refreshing. The best mattresses and springs are none too good when one is storing up strength for some work. Besides, as is the case with most household purchases, the best are really the cheapest in the end."

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—They Seem to Know Father From Experience.

PIDGIN ISLAND

Petty rascality. On the nice tracks and in his gambling establishments he was called square, a sporting term for any one not round out. Oh, he was generous and free handed—outside of his home.

And there you have the gist of villainy. It is at his fireside that a man is proved. We who meet him outside in the clubs, in the hotel lobbies, we vote him a first rate chap, but before we give our confidence let me see the wife who waits and watches at home.

"Well?"
"Going along finely," said the doctor.
"You are naturally robust."

"How long before I'll be able to throw this case out of the window?"

"Perhaps two weeks, if you are careful. No whisky; I don't think tobacco will hurt you. Good morning."

No whisky.

Smead grinned at the lighted end of his cigar. They little knew him. He drinks because he liked it, not because it had any hold on him.

Give him credit for that much; he could stop it; he had done so many a time. For two weeks, then, nothing stronger than coffee should pass his lips. He strolled down like the brilliant, sunshiny street.

The only man who had ever brought him up with a jolt; a sour boaster, a sot, every tea drinker, a fellow who bought his clothes in London and wore spats,

"I'll have Crawford out of the way in a night or two."

a government sneak who had spoiled his sport. He would make Crawford regret the day he had meddled with him.

He looked at his watch.

Eleven o'clock. He ought to be here now, unless the lake was too rough. He peered up at the sky, blue as a robin's egg.

And then the door opened.

"Huh!" said Smead with satisfaction.

"How's the leg?"

"Better. I've cut out whisky for two weeks."

"I told you to. Well, everything on my side runs like clockwork. I'll have Crawford out of the way in a night or two. Now what's your news?"

"The steamer makes Quebec day after tomorrow; perhaps tomorrow night. You trust that agent of yours?"

The son laughed. "Not an inch. Something better than that. Fear. He knows me; a false move means prison."

Smead nodded approvingly.

"The right idea. Now listen. Don't go fooling around the water in the morning. That's the time I'll wire you. May send a night message. I haven't asked you how you got your hands on these things."

"Don't, I shouldn't tell you."

"All right, unihly. I agreed to back the game for a third. That's enough for me. You've got head on you. But don't forget that Crawford may have done some advising."

"All due to you. If you hadn't dropped in he'd never dreamed of anything off color. But what's the use of arguing with you?"

CHAPTER XI.

A Kiss.

CRAWFORD and the girl sat on the ledge at Tibbet's point.

"Cast a glance at this oldember galloping in," Diana said. "Some water there. Shall we move? We'll get a duckling when she hits."

"Let's stay. O-a-a-ab, what a big one!" She huddled her shoulders and twisted one foot about the other. They waited, laughing like two children. Nearer and nearer the mighty roll of water came; no sign of a crest; higher, greener. It held them like some spell of enchantment. Then it smashed against the ledge with deafening noise.

This is a recent discovery of Doctor Pierce, who is head of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y. Experiments at Dr. Pierce's Hospital for several years proved that there is no other stimulator of urine acid than can be compared to it. For those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation—as backache, scalding urine and frequent urination, as well as sediment in the urine, or urine acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, it is simply wonderful how surely "Anuric" acts. The best of results are always obtained in cases of acute rheumatism in the joints, in gravel and gout, and invariably the palms and stiffness which so frequently and persistently accompany the disease rapidly disappear.

Go to your nearest drug store and simply ask for a 50-cent package of "Anuric" manufactured by Dr. Pierce, or even write Dr. Pierce for a free sample. If you suspect kidney or bladder trouble, send him a sample of your water and describe symptoms. Dr. Pierce's chemist will examine it, then Dr. Pierce will report to you without fee or charge.

Note:—"Anuric" is thirty-seven times more active than lithia in eliminating uric acid, and is a harmless but reliable chemical compound that may be safely given to children, but should be used only by grown-ups who actually wish to restore their kidneys to perfect health, by conscientiously using one box—or more in extreme cases—as "Anuric" (thanks to Doctor Pierce's achievement) is by far the most perfect kidney and bladder corrector obtainable.—Advertisement.

"An attraction out there?"

"And how? He doesn't drink, and he stays around the hotel after dark."

"He'll be going out to the farm, as they call it, one night. We'll watch."

"An attraction out there?"

"The Geese and the Cranes.

The Geese and the Cranes fed in the same meadow. A birdcatcher came to ensnare them in his nets. The Cranes being light of wing, flew away at his approach; while the Geese, being slower of flight and heavier in their bodies, were captured.—From Aesop's Fables.

That's the trouble with the water here," said Mr. Hanchett, folding his newspaper. "Great fishing grounds, but it blows too much."

"You have fished here before?"

"Oh, no! The guide has been telling me. How about a little game of billiards after dinner?"

"Glad to," Crawford proceeded into the office.

Mr. Hanchett smiled, and Mr. Dennison coughed slightly behind his hand.

"Not a tumble," murmured Mr. Dennison.

"There's where you're wrong. He recognized me—how I don't know—the moment he laid eyes on me. Just a little start, but it was enough for me.

"Let Us Meet and Counsel Together"

A NEW YEAR'S WISH.

Glowing hearts and pleasant ways lie with us through winter days. Wild beasts living in the woods. Peace to you and all things good. Fishes swimming down below. Cool deep shade and years to grow. Wild birds up against the sky. Strong bright wings and room to fly. And now before our wishing's done. Cheer to all beneath the sun.

OUR PART IN A BETTER JANESEVILLE

A New Year's Message to the Club Women.

(Given at the meeting of the Philanthropic club held on Saturday, Dec. 18.)

Before we can outline the part we ought to play in a bigger and better Janesville, we had best find out if possible the greatest needs of Janesville. If a mercantile business is about to make out the budget for the ensuing year, the first thing they do is to take an account of stocks. So we will proceed to make an inventory of the assets and liabilities of the city. In the first place we have a very advantageous situation in the midst of one of the richest farming districts in the world. It is the wonder and admiration of agricultural experts when visiting our vicinity, to drive out into the country, say to the top of Mount Zion, and see the vista of beautiful and well cultivated farms, spreading away in every direction.

We have a class of thrifty, law-abiding citizens, taken as a whole.

A stranger might think they had a perennial thirst, judging by the number of saloons, but there has been a slight improvement in this direction in the last three years and a tendency toward more stringent laws and enforcing those already enacted concerning them. But the concern for a still further reduction in the number of licenses granted and a greater need of more strict supervision of the saloons. Our schools are in a flourishing condition and have always been the foremost in the state to adopt the new methods. The domestic science, manual training, kindergarten music and drawing, gymnastic training and vocational work have all been introduced rapidly into the course of instruction as is possible with the means at command. That its high standing and fine corps of teachers is appreciated is shown by its increased attendance, many pupils coming in from the surrounding country to attend school.

Our commission form of government, everyone concedes, has been a great improvement over the old haphazard way of an elected board of aldermen. We believe they are honestly trying to furnish a creditable and economical city government and to install needed improvements, as fast as possible, with a reasonable city expenditure.

Our city library, a joy and comfort to all and a great help to everyone, students and claim "readers" alike. The attendants take special pains to help the clubs in locating their work, they assist the school children in their studies and co-operate in every way possible in affairs of that kind. Though we still begrudge the fact that only about a half of the building's capacity is utilized, and with a housekeeper's horror of waste, which ought to be used for public purposes to its fullest capacity, still in its limited sphere of literary work, it seems to be doing the good possible for the city.

Our parks are beautiful in their way and seem to be well taken care of and our playgrounds in the schoolyards during the summer vacations are a step in the right direction.

The churches and their affiliated Sunday schools and young people's societies, are especially progressive and up-to-date. We note with pleasure the Ministerial Association of Pastors, the Federation of the Women's Missionary societies and the approach Federation of Sunday school workers, who are to engage in joint session for Bible study and the training of teachers for Sunday school work. All of these influences are a direct asset to the better elements of the town.

One of the things which adds to the appearance of the city is the fine bridge which has been built in the last few years, and the large amount of paving and street improvements being done on the streets.

In this connection also can be mentioned the new system of lighting which is being installed, and the elimination of the unsightly poles from the business section. In the way of public utilities, the purchase of the water system will undoubtedly be a great saving to the city, an ultimate improvement in service in due time.

The visiting nurse and the dental clinic, with its attendant inspection of school children, is a great step in the healthfulness of the community, and we understand that the Anti-Tuberculosis Society is to begin a medical inspection of children, with a view to prevention and the cure of infant cases.

With an idea of assisting the musical talent of the town, the commission has donated a small sum yearly toward having public band concerts during the summer evenings. This is commendable and we would suggest as a supplementary proceeding, the erection of strong and good looking permanent band stand in the park. It would be useful for public speaking and many other purposes and if it were well planned would add to the beauty of the park, rather than detract from it.

Again, refer to the text, "Our part is that of the housekeepers in the bigger household of the city." To point out the special needs in sanitation, education, comfort, utility and beauty and then everlasting keep after the authorities responsible for it till in sheer self defense they remedy the defects and install the improvements needed.

"There are two kinds of people on earth, weak and strong."

Those that lift up those that lean, and what we all ought to do is to get high and lift good and hard. We know, only too well, that a city is not built in a day; Our little town cannot complete her soul.

Till countless generations pass away, so it will not do to be impatient if our efforts do not produce immediate results. It is the steady and faithful work, the counts in the long run, it is the influence of the unswerving purpose toward higher aims which accomplishes most in civic affairs and it is on this lofty plane of public service that we can do "Our part in a Better Janesville."

ADDRESS TO THE
W. C. T. U. SOCIETY

The W. C. T. U. met Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 15th, with Mrs. M. London.

A feature of the afternoon was the address by Mr. Arthur Fisher, L. L. D., on "The Purpose of the Temperance Educational League."

The substance of his remarks was as follows:

The primary aim of The League is to educate public sentiment in order to develop the "Better Life" of the community.

The liquor interests foster the old idea, that alcohol is a food. The League does not aim to antagonize, but to create public intelligence to counteract the influence of this false idea.

Alcohol is not a food, but a poison. And the people are not aroused to a full realization of the danger that lurks therein.

"Behold!" in the midst of a garland, the point of a spear."

So far, the British Government placed the streets of the hundred cities with a warning of the destructive and degenerating nature of alcohol?

"Because the most modern and exact scientists of Germany, France and England, through experiments, in the great chemical laboratories of the world, discovered that alcohol is a poison, a hydrocarbon of the formula,

C₂H₅O, produced by the process of fermentation. Alcohol is the toxin (that is, the waste product) of the low yeast germ. And it is a poison to all life, whether plant, animal, or man. Poison is all the living tissues and organs of the body. Moreover, alcohol is a part of most all of the beverages sold in public places."

The effect of alcohol is far-reaching.

And as it is destructive to the individual, it must be the great destroyer of the race. The League aims to educate the public to the danger in the use of alcohol.

Eventually, there must be legislation against its use as a beverage, but legislation must be preceded by public sentiment. Now, the problem is, how to reach the masses, to educate them.

Firstly, we appeal to the press, that is, the great distributor of education. Then the warning posters in conspicuous places. Then we must call for the powerful agencies in furthering the work of evangelists was emphasized at today's session of the School of Civic Evangelism at Moody Institute by speakers who discussed the day's theme, "Preparing for a Revival."

The last speaker, a sophomore, which leads to Christ and to his spouse," said Canon William Sheafe Chase of Brooklyn, president of the New York Civic League, in opening the Way for Gospel."

It is wrong to think of law not as a teacher but as merely force," he continued. "The tremendous power of law and civil government for good is indeed clear, but we consider how the forces of evil are unable to make progress without securing control of the government. Prostitution, Gambling, Sunday Liquor Saloons could not exist in any large degree if they did not bribe, or otherwise corrupt civil government, or the law breaking forced in order to extend the Kingdom of the Devil, find it necessary to corrupt civil government into forces of evil. Christ ought to realize that in order to extend the Kingdom of God, it is necessary to purify political life, laws and law enforcement."

"The sufferings in the Great War are to the absence of effort to square the government of the nations with the law of Christ, and to the fact that militaristic and navalistic spirit has become more active in gaining control of civil government than has the spirit of Christian brotherhood."

Nevertheless, ideals mean much to a community. What directs public thought? Not the law, but ideals, but ideals, promulgated by the wise. Thought is directed by some force back of it. This organization has led the public mind until they have lifted the embargo of prejudice against temperance facts.

The famous Pass of Thermopylae was held by one man.

A few men and a small band of women for two generations have fought the temperance battle high enough to catch the attention of the world. They have held high the gleam of a storm signal through many adverse winds and tides. At last, "After the years," Be hold! An awakened conscience. An entire nation is "Following the gleam."

IMPORTANCE OF LAW AS RELIGIOUS AID

Need of Gaining Co-operation of Laws and Enforcement at Evangelism Meeting.

[U.S. ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Dec. 29.—The importance of gaining the co-operation of law enforcing agencies in furthering the work of evangelists was emphasized at today's session of the School of Civic Evangelism at Moody Institute by speakers who discussed the day's theme, "Preparing for a Revival."

Mrs. W. H. Hatfield died at her home in this city Monday evening, death being due to a complication of diseases.
